DIAMOND DRILL AT WORK

A Comparison of the Boring Done Here and Abroad.

Although it has been at work some years on Lake of the Woods very few of our readers we venture to say know much about the important work that has been done by the diamond drill.
The machine has not been used as it is in South Africa where it appears on the surface ground of the richest paying mines of the Rand. There, a claim was staked out on the barren rock, and months, and in some cases years were spent to establish the fact that a vein existed before the real work of mining commenced. Here the drill has mostly been used in recovering faulted lodes and searching for possible parallel ore bodies, and in most cases the money paid for diamond drilling has turned out successful. Mr.
J. Burley Smith was the first to use it for real prospect work, having located the Sultana lode running along the bottom of the lake in Bald Indian Bay by this means. Mr. Allan Sullivan, M. E., was the next to do extensive diamond drill work before sinking a working shaft, and his work has been well repaid. He knew the extent and value of the Elizabeth ore body at 200 feet before he began to sink his shaft, and now that the miners themselves are down below that depth, the drill is still at work boring deeper and deeper, and peering into the future of a year or more hence. Perhaps, however, the most important work done on Lake of the Woods by the diamond drill has been in locating faulted lodes. The big ore body of the Sultana came to a dead stop last year, but after 800 feet of lateral drilling, the vein was tapped and found to be just as wide and as rich as the one, which suffered the intrusion—the miners now being at work on the shifted vein. At the Regina and Mikado, while there could not have been what would be technically called a "fault" still, radial drilling discovered new parallel veins which largely increased the values of these mines. But this is mere child's play to what has been done in Australia and South Africa.

A bore hole was recently put down on the Turf Club Ground at Johannesburg, and the following is based upon an account by Edward Chester of the Chester Diamond Drilling company, which appeared in "South Africa."
The bore hole was started in January.

"We are bound to cut the reef unless we get into a fault. An interesting point in regard to this bore hole and the value of the result obtained thereby is that it has proved nearly two miles of backs. Of course, it was always calculated that the main reef series continued to a far greater depth than the point at which it was cut;
but until the series was cut, it was always open to doubt as to whether the formation continued intact to this great depth, and from the result now obtained there seems no reason why it should not continue right up to the edge of the Klipriviersberg range, about four miles south of the outcrop. Moreover, it would appear that there is every likelihood of picking up the main reef series on the south side of the Klipriviersberg dike, the formation at which point is covered by the Black Reef series, and no one has yet had luck enough to penetrate the formation underneath this to any depth, but there is no doubt that it continues here as in portions of Randfontein some 20 miles west of this point where the series is overlapped with black Reef, and where the formation is proved to dip consistently."

There is a second bore hole on the Turf Club ground to the west and about the same distance from the outcrop and is down to a considerable depth. The bore hole was discontinued, however, until the one at the east struck the formation, but in all probability, the second bore hole will be carried down to the same depth.

Brazilian carbons which today are worth about 20 per carat or about four times the value of ordinary diamonds were used in the drilling.
The weight of the rods which carried out this operations was about 10 tons. To prevent such an enormous weight pressing too heavily on the carbons whilst drilling, the rods were suspended on a hydraulic cylinder, which allowed the rods to descend as desired; in fact, the enormous pressure of the rods could have been run at a weight just sufficient to tickle one's hand if necessary.

The proof afforded by this new strike at Randfontein not only gives, undoubtedly, permanence to the gold industry of the Rand, but it also doubles the computations which have been made with regard to the ultimate value of the whole formation.

The whole was sunk in 10 months from the time the drill was put on the ground, inclusive of stoppages, but exclusive of the time the drill was hung up owing to the war.

Recognition of Heroism.

RECOGNITION OF HEROISM.

Royal Humane Society Will Reward Plucky Axel Sunblad.

Alderman McCarthy has made application for the Humane Society's medal for Axel Sunblad, who risked his own life to save the unconscious girl at the Hilliard House fire. The necessary papers have arrived for the reports of eye witnesses which are now being filled in.

The story of the heroic deed is briefly told. The employees quarters was situated in the south part of the building, the oldest and most inflammable of the entire structure. The fire reached this part so quickly that the female employees had not time to dress, running half stifled from the building, they nearly all however had presence of mind to slip on boots. Elfrida, the feckless girl, seems to have been in a semi-asphyxiated condition before she awoke, and not realizing her danger she moved too slowly, the consequence being that she fell unconscious in the narrow corridor. Meanwhile Axel Sunblad, the teamster, was taking chances to put on some clothing, as the temperature outside, registered about 40 below zero, when he found himself smothering. He then rushed into the corridor which was now in total darkness, the electric light connections having been burnt, and stumbling, fell over the prostrate form of the girl. Realizing at once the horror of their condition he jumped to his feet, and picking up the unconscious girl, staggered blindly down the hallway to the main staircase where the smoke had not yet become so dense. Other arms now freed him of his burden and he was led into the open air suffering the greatest agony.

Ex-Mayor McCarthy deserves much credit for interesting himself in the case, and we hope he will be successful in securing recognition for the brave boy whose nonchalantly allowed another to receive credit for his deed, until that other, Mr. Jones, read the account of it in the press, when he promptly rectified the mistake and publicly placed the honor on the broad shoulders of the plucky young Swede.

dawn do that a hundred times from the deck of a tramp steamer on the northeast route from Singapore but I have heard deckhands quote the phrase.
The effect of the line reproduces the phenomena perfectly, the utter silliness of it, as if it leaped at you from

MR. MATHESON BURNT OUT.

News was received in town this week that the Hudson's Bay Company at Nepean, the residence of Axel Factor Mr. Alex. Matheson, one of our oldest timers, was burnt to the ground.
The fire was not discovered until it had gained considerable headway and fanned by a brisk wind, enveloped the residence before it could be gotten under control. It was but a short time till the house was in ashes. The loss will be a heavy one, as Mr. Matheson was unable to save anything from the residence. The house was insured and having been created by the Hudson's Bay Co. is a trading place.

as well as the one which suffered the intrusion—the miners now being at work on the shifted vein. At the Regina and Mikado, while there could not have been what would be technically called a "fault" still, radial drilling discovered new parallel veins which largely increased the values of these mines. But this is mere child's play to what has been done in Australia and South Africa.

A bore hole was recently put down on the Turf Club Ground at Johannesburg, and the following is based upon an account by Edward Chester of the Chester Diamond Drilling company, which appeared in "South Africa." The bore hole was started in January, 1891, but was stopped October 1, as the company was advised to leave Johannesburg; moreover, owing to the warlike feeling which existed at the time, workmen refused to work. When the company was able to return to the Rand it was found that some injury had been done to the bore hole, but this was repaired before recommencing work, on the rods were gotten out of the hole May 20, 1900, although the actual boring operations did not begin again until July 11. A Sullivan drill which was specifically built to go to the desired depth was used in drilling the hole.

This is the deepest hole used by this company on the Rand. The Rand Victoria bore hole held the Rand record until Beaudenville. The Rand Victoria hole struck the reef at 2,400 feet and eight months were taken in its drilling. The Beaudenville bore hole which was finished in 1895 struck the reef at 3,251 feet. The drill hole on the Turf Club Grounds, which is nearly two miles from the outcrop of the main reef struck the main reef of 4,800 feet or within 25 feet of the depth at which it was expected formation would be struck. A curious feature in connection with the sinking of this bore hole was the fact that the rods were left in the hole for 20 months while hostilities were going on. The details of the work when it was renewed are best given in the following quotations from the report of the engineers: "Having completed all our preparations we started to withdraw the rods on Sunday morning May 21, at 9:10 a. m. The full pressure of steam at our disposal we applied, and as the rods took the strain it was a moment of great anxiety to the onlookers, and as we held our breath in suspense as it was seen the rods had not moved an inch. The next moment, however, to our great relief and delight, they gradually and evenly slipped outwards and so continued to lift without a hitch throughout the day, so that at knocking off time we had pulled 1,850 feet. Work was resumed at daylight on the following Monday morning, and we are happy to inform you that by 10 a. m. on that day all the rods were safely out of the hole.

"The nature of the ground passed through was fairly favorable and the regular Rand formation.

The proof afforded by this new strike at Turfontein not only gives, undoubtedly, permanency to the gold industry of the Rand but it also doubles the computations which have been made with regard to the ultimate value of the whole formation.

The whole was sunk in 10 months from the time the drill was put on the ground, inclusive of stoppages, but exclusive of the time the drill was hung up owing to the war.

THE ORE AT BLACK EAGLE.

Manager Peterson Reports Values to His Company—Average Assay $8.

In view of the great interest taken in the recent return of gold bricks from the Black Eagle mine, and of the discussion about the values of the ore mined, Mr. Peterson's report to his company published in London, Eng., will be read with no small interest. He writes:

"The Cortiss engine is an efficient and exceedingly economical machine, amply powerful to run 10 stamps. The trouble I discovered, was caused by the millwright setting the engine slightly out of line. This has been put right, and the engine is now perfect, running the 10 stamps with ease. The slope in the 6th level has been my store room for all the rock taken out in developing, and generally cleaning up the old levels. None of the rock has been sorted, and it is consequently badly mixed. The average assay of the contents of this slope is slightly over $5 per ton. It is quite good enough for the purpose for which it has been used, namely, the first two weeks' run in a new mill. I am now running the 30 stamps night and day, on ore averaging $8 in assay values, and will mix that with a higher grade as soon as I can get at it. This will give us a general average mill value of the ore from all parts of the mine as far as it is opened up, and I think, an average that can be maintained in the future. That is what I am trying to establish. At the end of another fortnight I will make a general clean up and report number of tons milled and from what part of the mine and the result in gold."

SEEKS TO UNSEAT CHADWICK.

An action has been brought against G. W. Chadwick to unseat him from the municipal council on the ground of insufficient qualification. Jacob Hose is the petitioner. The case will come before Judge Chapple.

Ex-Mayor McCarthy deserves much credit for interesting himself in the case, and we hope he will be successful in securing recognition for the brave boy whose nonchalantly allowed another to receive credit for his deed. Until that other, Mr. Jones, read the account of it in the press, when he promptly rectified the mistake and publicly placed the honor on the broad shoulders of the plucky young Swede.

THE GOLDEN HORN MINE.

When asked today regarding the progress of work at the Golden Horn, Manager Rideout said it was very satisfactory. The shaft is down over 100 feet, and drifting and crosscutting will be commenced at once, and the number of men increased. The vein has gradually widened from the top till it more than fills the shaft at the bottom—in fact 2 feet wider. Another gratifying feature is that there has been no decrease in the values of the ore. Our readers will remember an account of this property written by the editor of the Miner which appeared in our issue of September last. We referred therein to the high opinion entertained by the foreman and working miners of the Golden Horn, who have not since changed their opinion, but are more convinced that it is one of the best properties in Western Ontario.

A BIG LUMBER DEAL.

The Rat Portage Lumber Company and Messrs. Graham & Horn have bought, on the business, stock and plant of Messrs. Semman & Co., who are operating on the Rainy lake section of the Canadian Northern railway. They have a saw mill at Tuttle lake and a lumber yard at Cash Point with about 15,000,000 feet of unsawn timber and manufactured lumber between the two places. This means a brisk season for Rat Portage and Rainy river during this year.

WILL BE A HOT GAME.

The scheduled intermediate hockey game between the Victorias of Winnipeg and the Thistles of Rat Portage will take place in Victoria rink Tuesday evening next. Secretary Austin says this ought to prove one of the warmest games that will be seen here, as the Vics have been showing good form of late and will most likely put up a strong fight against the invincible Thistles.

KIPLING AS A GUIDE.

VISITED THE SULTANA.

ADJOURNED COUNCIL.

The town council met at 7:30 p. m. Monday night with a full attendance. On the order of the day, and Alderman McCarty, and the council adjourned. A supplementary report from the finance committee was read and adopted. The new rules before were read for the first time and a motion to adjourn followed.

GREAT SINGER COMING.

Arrangement has been completed for an appearance at the Rat Portage Wednesday evening of Miss Jessie MacLachlan who has won the title in England and America of the Queen of Scottish Song. She filled a library to the doors and her appearance in such cities as New York, Boston and Philadelphia was the signal for an ovation, one paper describing her singing as "magnificent—splendid—marvellous." Seats should be secured early so as to avoid disappointment.

PECKSNIFFIAN.

A despatch from Hamilton, Ont., says that Andrew Carnegie has refused the request for aid from the House of Providence, Dundas, Ont., on the ground that the establishment of free libraries absorbs all the time and attention he can give.

Admirer of Robert Burns built a monument to the poet's grave. "Ye asked for bread, Robbie, and they gae ye a stane." A house for the rescue of fallen women, a home for indigent old people, a hospital for sick children, a haven for homeless wives do not appeal to Mr. Carnegie; he would give to those who do not want; if a beggar asked for bread Carnegie would give him a book.

HEROISM.

The firemen of Toronto receive a salary of $3.63 per month for their first year's service, and $41.67 for the second year, receiving a proportionate raise each year till it reaches $500, where it stops.

And the firemen are agitating for an increase of pay.

Alfred Shepard proposes to advance a fireman one year if he shows heroism.

What a contract he would have it! Alfred Shepard would be come here and put such a scheme in force.

Every member of our brigade would be back inside of a year, for if they haven't all shown themselves to be heroes of Class A, then we have no conception of the meaning of the word.

FATHER.

Dr. Lyman Abbott holds peculiar views on prohibition. The rural population have the power to impose prohibition on the urban population if they have the majority.

And they have the majority. But the doctor says:

"The rural population of this state ought not to impose their conscience upon the people of the city of New York."

"It makes no difference if they rural conscience is right and the New York conscience is wrong."

"Still, the right conscience has no right to impose its will upon the wrong conscience."

HINTS FOR GIRLS.

How to Preserve Health and Good Color.

Pale, Sallow, or Anaemic Girls Restored to the Bright Freshness of Youth by Natural Means Good Health Within the Reach of All.

From The Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

Miss Maggie Brownlee, of Orangeville, is a young lady well known to the residents of the town and greatly esteemed by all her acquaintances. Like thousands of other young girls throughout Canada, tell a victim to anemia or watery blood, and for a time she says herself, bated she would never again enjoy robust health. Experiences like Miss Brownlee's can not fail to be of benefit to other pale and anaemic girls, and for this reason she kindly consented to give a statement to the Sun for publication.

"My illness," said Miss Brownlee, "came on very gradually, and at first it merely seemed as though it was a feeling of depression and tiredness. I kept getting worse, however, and finally had to give up a good position. I was at times troubled with a throbbing, aching headache, my appetite gave out, the least exertion tired me, and my heart would beat painfully. My limbs seemed to feel like weights, and at other times there was a sinking sensation which I can scarcely describe."

"I was very glad to see you, gentlemen, much ad to your performance this evening here. Der drink I am about to executions has never been sometimes before done yet, don't it? And I may say do owing to boogies numerous ahead, this will be my latest apparitions among you, as I have decided invitations from every quarter of der globe, conglonding London, der Fluke, Baris, Perruda, Zeylon, St. Helena, and some of my legends in Englands and Ganada say dot I am under contract to go to appearance at Hell. PUNISHED AND PARDONED.

Last night my little son was sent to bed with a cold, and I was told that he had a fever. This was his mother's punishment. A gentle woman does not live, but yet she cannot be forgiven.

The children fast, the parents do not. They must be punished so in the school. He was too proud to go to school. I was his mother's punishment. In tender teaching he learned him.

But in the school when he was punished, the teachers were not very kind. How pleasant it was to be at home. The great teacher was not understood.

Then tenderly the mother smiled. The father looked at her from a new angle. And when the mother was punished, she was not very kind. And when the mother was punished, she was not very kind. And when the mother was punished, she was not very kind.

And so, dear mother, when you are punished, you are not very kind. And when you are punished, you are not very kind. And when you are punished, you are not very kind. And when you are punished, you are not very kind.

"He said I was a utterly false." —Did he dare to say that to your teeth? —Punch, M. P.

"The impossible." —No, your friend didn't catch his train after all? —"No, he's a detective." —Illustrated Bits.

Great Matrimonial Trust.—He: I asked your father's consent to our engagement by telephone. —She: What was his answer? —He: Oh, he just said, "I don't know who you are, but you will never be mine." —Fun.

Youth, Miss Standhope, you're positively the only person I've met to-day worth stop to speak to. —Miss Standhope (recognizingly): Indeed! You are twice fortunate than I am! —Punch.

Ethel: Did you notice how ravenously your friend ate at dinner last night? —George: Well, my dear, he'd been fishing half a day. —Ethel: Indeed! But, really, I don't see what that had to do with it. —George: Well, you see he hadn't had a bite. —Daily.

"Missus! Kilt! That's the postman, Mary! Who's going to the door?" —"Yes! Please, son-in-law, cook has—Missus! Well, what's she said such a long time for?" —Mary: Please, ma'am, I think it must be a postcard. —Punch, M. P.

Alas! Well, That Ends Well.—Tumid Lady: Are people ever kind in this river? —Boudinque: No, ma'am, we always find them in a day or two. —Fun.

Exposure

To cold and stormy weather opens the way to an attack of bronchitis. The man on the wagon, be he farmer, milkman or truckman, needs to pay special heed to the first symptoms of weakness or disease of the organs of respiration.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure bronchitis, its deep-seated coughs, bleeding of the lungs, and other conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"For seven years I had been troubled with what the doctors called 'bronchitis,' writes Mr. Arthur Maule (general merchant), of Niles town, Middlesex Co., Ontario. 'A year ago, after I had been taken sick with a severe attack, I began taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I rapidly recovered from the attack and felt no more of that fall. This season I began taking the 'Discovery' in August, and have so far been perfectly well. I can go out all kinds of weather and not feel the bronchitis trouble at all. Let me say to all who are suffering from such complaints to get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at a fair trial, and I am convinced that good results will be obtained.'"

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice, paper-bound, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or 50 stamps for the book in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

KIDNEY DISEASE FOR TEN YEARS.

A Glen Miller Man's Terrible Trial.

He Found a Cure at Last in Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. P. M. Burk, who is a well-known resident of Glen Miller, Hastings Co., Ontario, was afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years, and he had been taking various remedies, but he had never found a cure for his ailment, which he had begun to think were imaginary, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted might profit by his experience: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years, and have tried several remedies, but never received any real benefit until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and milky looking at times. Since I have finished the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am no longer troubled, and have all my urine clear as crystal. I feel confident that these pills are the best kidney specific in the country."

FARM PESTS.

Why Farmers Should Take an Interest in Insect Life.

(1) Farming has come to be a profession, and in these days of small margins, in many cases knowledge or ignorance of methods of checking the growth of insect pests means success or failure. An up-to-date farmer will do everything in his power to prevent a great loss which can be checked by proper methods. This special knowledge is not difficult to acquire, for the Departments of Agriculture in both the Provinces, and the Dominion are only too pleased to assist the farmer who wants assistance. Timely bulletins are distributed liberally, and the Farmers' Institutes bring specialists directly into contact with the person needing help.

(2) There are beneficial as well as injurious insects. While the farmer may take full advantage of the liberality of the Government, he should be familiar with both, the common noxious and beneficial insects, indeed to obtain the best results of his work. He would be foolish indeed to destroy every insect that came in his way, for there are many valuable insects which prey upon other injurious insects. Contrary to popular belief, the number of in-

...PECCATOR.
The Lyman hotel holds peculiar views on prohibition. The rural population have the power to impose prohibition on the urban population if they have the majority.

And they have the majority. But the doctor says:
"The rural population of this state ought not to impose their conscience upon the people of the city of New York."

"It makes no difference if the rural conscience is right and the New York conscience is wrong."

"Still, the right conscience has no right to impose its will upon the wrong conscience."

DISGRACEFUL.

Great Britain is famous for her toleration. She allows anarchists and the riffraff of Europe to make disgraceful speeches right in London, but when she trooped Cecil Rhodes goldly on his arrival three years ago, many people thought she had acted somewhat contrary to her grand old style, but now we are beginning to see light, for the Associated Press states that reporters are lobbying the government, right and left, "no contract was first made at £10,000 premium and then at £10,000, while Cecil Rhodes and the DeBoschs had handed over £20,000 and thus finally secured the privilege of supplying the troops in South Africa with fresh meat."

MARVELOUS.

De Wet managed to get away again although surrounded this time for days with an impassable cordon of troops and even wire fence. The cowboy would say that the mysterious flower leader and his gang were safely "killed," but though nearly all the commandos were wiped out or captured, De Wet himself dashing in among a herd of cattle, stampeded them, and they broke through a fence, making an opening through which he escaped.

Before the war broke out, men who knew him say De Wet was running a butcher shop in Bloemfontein. He was no headstrong but a respected and generally periphrastic burgher who rose every morning, and, stoking a match, knelt down to pray before the puff of his long pipe. His property qualification was, him change his room and, and since that time he has been throwing his guiney away in and out among a pointer of a milk lion men with boys who are looking for his skin. Every British soldier hates him, for he has done countless mean things, such as stealing mail bags, which could do him no good and left the poor British soldier poor indeed. De Wet's career suggests marvelous ideas. Just imagine the task of trying to collect an account from a man like that! Think of him as a Hermann doing the disappearing act in full view of the audience; take his last trick for instance, and let us try and figure out how he would introduce it.

The scene is the vault: Time, night.

esteemed by all her acquaintances. Like thousands of other young girls throughout Canada, fell a victim to anaemia or watery blood, and for a time, as she says herself, feared she would never again enjoy robust health. Experiences like Miss Brownlee's cannot fail to be of benefit to other pale and anaemic girls, and for this reason she kindly consented to give a statement to the Sun for publication. "My illness," said Miss Brownlee, "came on very gradually, and at first it merely seemed as though it was a feeling of depression and tiredness. I kept getting worse, however, and finally sat to go up a good position. I was at times troubled with a throbbing, aching headache, my appetite gave out; the least exertion tired me, and my heart would beat painfully. My limbs seemed to feel like weights, and at other times there was a sinking sensation, which I can scarcely describe. I was treated by a good doctor and I took a number of remedies, but without any improvement in my condition, and I began to feel that I was doomed to be an invalid. One day a friend who called to see me spoke very highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and what she said interested me in another sense, for she bought a few boxes. I began taking them, and in the course of a few weeks there was no reason to doubt that they were helping me. I continued taking the pills for a couple of months or more when I felt as well and strong as I ever had been. It is almost a year since I gave up taking the pills, and I have not since felt the need of any medicine. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine, and should be taken by all pale and feeble girls."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood with every dose taken, thus restoring the system of health, and the brightness and freshness of youth in pale and sallow cheeks. Through their action on the blood they cure such diseases as anaemia, nervousness, headache, rheumatism, dyspepsia, St. Vitus' dance, heart troubles, diseases of the kidneys, etc. These pills also cure the ailments that make the lives of so many women a constant misery. Sold in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Can be procured from druggists, or will be sent by mail, post paid at five a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockton, Ont.

"BREAKING."

Law students often give their professors and "coaches" curious answers. To the question, "What is the great essential to constitute burglary?" a student replied, "There must be breaking." The professor said: "Then if a man enters a door and takes a sovereign from your coat in the hall, of what crime is he guilty?" "Burglary," replied the student.

"Burglary?" said the professor, "where is the breaking?"

"It would break, n.e., sir," said the student.

It's a striking coincidence that the things a boy likes to throw at break easily.

Senator Dewey will now pose as the audience at home when there is an after-dinner speech.

It's a long race-track that doesn't separate a fool from his coin.

Ethel: "Did you notice how ravenously your friend ate at dinner last night?" George: "Well, my dear, he'd been fishing since lunch." Ethel: "Indeed? But, really, I don't see what that has to do with it." George: "Well, you see, he hadn't had a bite."

Missus: "Isn't that the postman, Mary?" George: "That's about the door?" Mary: "Please, ma'am, cook has—"

Missus: "Well, what's she such a long time for?" Mary: "Please, ma'am, I think it must be a postcard—Pick-Mick."

A.H.'s: "Well, that little well—Timid Lady: 'An' people ever lost in this river?' 'Dawdlin', 'No, ma'am, we always find them on a day or two—'

Charles: "Gee! When he proposed he lost his mind. 'What did you do?' 'I ran, ma'am, on his shoulder.' 'Funny thing.'"

A New Day: "Shave, Father! Wet the dibber, 'yer been down' with my razor." Son: "Father, I cannot tell a lie. I've been opening closets with it." Father: "Go and give me a rub on a back-bait immediately, or I'll never be able to get a shave today."

Mrs. Hemphill: "If you marry Dick, you must never expect me to come by." As you, 'Fountain? Just say that. 'Acto, the photographer, won't you, 'phooey? Mrs. Hemphill: "What for, 'Fountain? I want to give it to Dick as a wedding present—' 'Oh, yes, 'Fountain."

Natural: "Mistake—Bigger! Could not spare a poor fellow only ten shillings for a taxi." City Man (aghast): "Ten shillings—'Bigger! 'Scuse me, sir, I mean twelve." 'Bigger: "I've just escaped from Kewstake, an' 'ere I used to be a taxi driver—' 'World's Coming."

A Salt Answer: "Young Wife: You always seemed to have plenty of money before we were married." Loving Husband: "I was only seeing. I had very little." Young Wife: And you told me you expected to be rich." Loving Husband: "If not rich, my dear, I've got you." (She snatched.) "Contented Couple."

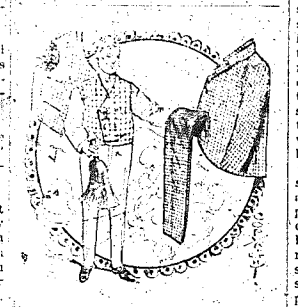

He Was a Mistake: "She taught me, Othello! I think you have made a mistake. It is a paragon! I want, not a footman! Applicant (in rational costume): I think you have made the mistake, sir. I have come about the parlouring place, but as I only live two or three miles from here I just can't overtake my machine." Half-penny Couple.

Charlotte: "Oh! Lady: Poor woman! And she goes in with a carriage. Worse than a widow, ma'am. My husband's living, an' I have to support him." Sydney Journal.

Don't let me need in the dust at your feet, Maggie, and tell you how much I adore you." She: "I beg your pardon, but there is no dust on my carpet." Sydney Journal.

Miss Oatmeal: "It is not for lack of opportunity, dear, I have remained single." Miss: "But, no, I dare say you have given the men plenty of chances to propose." Sydney Journal.

...which he had begun to think were incredible, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted might profit by his experience:
"I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for about ten years and have tried several remedies but never received any real benefit until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and often burning at times. Since I have taken the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am not bothered with backache at all and my urine is clear as crystal. Sketch of Miss Beale.

A somewhat novel event was the conferring of the honorary freedom of the Borough of Cheltenham, England, on Miss Dorothy Beale in recognition of her efforts on behalf of the education of women in England, but more particularly of her success during the last 23 years as Principal of the Cheltenham Ladies' College. Since she became Principal the number of pupils has risen from 69 to 1,000, with an annual income of £20,000, while to her efforts is due the erection of college buildings, at an expense of £420,000, the foundation of St. Hilary's College in Cheltenham, the opening of St. Hilary's Hall at Oxford, and the work of the Ladies' College Settlement in London.

Miss Beale, who is the daughter of a doctor, was born in London in 1821. She obtained her first appointment that of mathematical instructor at Queen's College, London, 51 years ago. She was principal of the Cheltenham School at Cheltenham as long as 1827. She has edited since 1880 The Ladies' College Magazine, and has published several works on the subject of "Girls' Education."

STRENUOUS STINGERS.

The Wasp Has More Executive Tact Than Any Other Stinging Insect.

"I read in one of the magazines recently something about the sting of the bee," said a citizen, "and I was reminded of an experience I had with a friend some time ago while in the country. He was plowing over behind a small clump of hills, and they were said wooded almost down to the fence line. It was a section which is noted for making without whiskey, and this fact threw me off the track, as will appear hereafter. I was approaching my friend from the hillside. I was going."

"Suddenly I thought he glanced at me, and at the same time he rushed around hurriedly to the singletree, unhooked the trace chains, threw them across the horse's back, and the animal struck out on a dead run down the turning row which split the ravine. My friend followed, and it was a race for who laid the rail, as they say in the country. I could see through it all in a minute. My friend had been making moonshine whiskey, and he thought I was a United States marshal. I split my sides laughing over the thought of the thing, and then I struck down the ravine after him. I traveled some distance before catching sight of my friend and his horse. I found them close to a branch, and my friend was stooping down occasionally, picking up something and smearing it on his hands, face and neck.

"Hello, Bill," I said smilingly. "I guess you thought I was a United States marshal. 'United States' he said almost un-

THE GREAT MEDICAL PRESCRIPTION OF PROFESSOR PHILIPS, M. D., IS THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT TRULY BANISHES DISEASE AND SICKNESS.

Shortly after the greatest of modern physicians, Professor Phelps, M. D., gave to the science of medicine the most wonderful remedy of the present day—Paine's Celery Compound—a host of imitations sprang up. As the great public demand for Paine's Celery Compound increases in every section of Canada imitations become bolder, and as a consequence, the public in many quarters are suffering from these vile descriptions. To-day no other medicine is so largely imitated as Paine's Celery Compound. This is due to its immense popularity.

Notwithstanding the introduction of imitations of Paine's Celery Compound in Canada, the sales of the great disease-banisher increase from week to week and far exceed the combined output of all other medicines. People insist upon having the only remedy that makes them strong, restores their strength, and that frees them from disease. Only a truly great and effective remedy could continue as Paine's Celery Compound has done, to hold its unrivalled place in the estimation of able physicians, discerning professional men and the best people of the land.

If you value your life and health, do not hesitate to refuse the "Something Just As Good" and the imitations when doctors present them to you. See that you get the kind with the name PAINE'S on the wrapper and bottle.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I was approaching my friend from the bridge. I was riding. "Suddenly I thought he glided at me and at the same time he rushed around hurriedly to the singletree, unhooked the trace chains, threw them across the horse's back, and the animal struck out on a dead run down the turning, row which split the ravine. I found them going to a branch, and my friend was stooping down occasionally, picking up something and sneering it on his hands, face and neck. "Hello, Bill," I said smilingly. "I guess you thought I was a United States marshal." "United States," he said almost unthinkingly. "I placed up a horse's nest. And sure enough he had, and both the man and the horse were as knotty as a hickory limb as the result of it all. The bee may be a good stinger, but the horse is the fleetest thing on wings when it comes to using the stinger with swiftness and effect. "That reminds me of the curious methods of bees and things of that sort. It is a stinging, the narrator continued. "Take the honeybee, for instance. Now, the honeybee is what you might call a lazy, clumsy, docile sort of stinger. Really the bee is awkward when compared with other insects. The bumblebee is a trifle more vigorous, and there is a deal more of what one may call action in its movements. It is a striking sort of sting, and I have seen children almost knocked down by these heavier members of the bee family. It is a mean sting to handle, too, and does not yield so quickly to treatment. The hornet and the yellow jacket sting on the wing, as it were. They do their work quickly, but thoroughly, and they generally leave a record behind them that they would have no cause to feel ashamed of if they had this element in their makeup. "But there is my old friend, the wasp. I want to speak of him. He is the prince of stingers. You may not forget him so quickly when he stings you. He is a sort of wasp, but he is a wasp, and it is anything but pleasant, and it is a taste you will remember even after the years have gone by. The wasp is a lingering sort of fellow. He lovingly and carefully stings, perches for awhile on one's neck, I may say, and then hums about his business. But really, while the wasp lingers longer than other insects while stinging, he also shows more anger and is probably the most spiteful member in the list of stinging insects. "When Men Were Earrings. Among civilized nations the wearing of earrings by men has been by no means uncommon, as it has been shown that early English ears some of the most distinguished courtiers bedecked their ears with very costly specimens. The immortal Shakespeare is said to have worn them, and Charles I. is reputed to have been the owner of a magnificent pair of pearl earrings, which he bequeathed to his daughter the day before he was executed. In the south sea islands the females and males alike adopt this style of personal adornment, and even in the wilds of Africa they are worn by the untutored savages of both sexes. At the present day the only civilized persons of the male sex who wear earrings in this manner are the gypsies, the Italians, the French, a few sailors or other foreign nations, and occasionally a German, but as a matter of course precious few females the world over will be found without them.

WOMEN WILL TALK.

Can't Blame them for Talking each other about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR WEAK NERVOUS WOMEN.

It's only natural that when a woman finds a remedy which cures her of nervousness and weakness, relieves her pains and aches, puts color in her cheek and vitality in her whole system, she should be anxious to let her suffering sisters know of it. Mrs. Hannah Holmes, St. James Street, St. John, N.B., relates her experience with this remedy as follows:—"For some years I have been troubled with fluttering of the heart and dizziness, accompanied by a smothering feeling which prevented me from resting. My appetite was poor and I was much run down and debilitated. "Since I started using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the smothering feeling has gone, my heart beat is now regular, the fluttering has disappeared, and I have been wonderfully built up through the constant use of the pills. I am now stronger and better than for many years, and cannot say too much in praise of the remedy which restored my long lost health."

"How did you enjoy the play last night?" "Oh! it was just divine—I never cried so much in my life.
